OLD ENGLISH SHRINE

OF PECULIAR INTEREST TO THE ARCHEOLOGIST.

One of the Earliest Emblems of Christianity to Be Found in Britain—Known as St. Piran's Cross.

In various parts of the countryside of England are seen old stone crosses of a bygone age which in themselves are objects of much interest, for apart from the meaning of their construction many have histories of their own. Of these early emblems of Christianity we show one of exceptional interest to the tourist to England, St. Piran's cross, at Perranzabuloe. It should be mentioned that the meaning of the "Cornish round headed cross," as they are called, is that the cross signifies "redemption" and the circle "eternity."

The associations of this cross are woven around St. Piran, who was born in the sixth century in Ireland and was sent over to Cornwall on a mission. Here, on Perranzabuloe, he built a chapel which was religiously used for many years by the villagers round about; but in the course of time the shifting sands threatened and finally enveloped the little building. However, the good seeds sown by the saint among the simple folk had good effect and they were not to be done out of their shrine. Consequently, in the ninth century they built another church further inland, across a stream which prevented the sands from shifting.

Ing, and there repaired for their delinquencies.

BOAR RUNS IN HARNESS.

Draws Master About Like a Horse in a Specially Designed Giga.

M. Tronget, living at Montlucon, France, has perhaps the most curious harness in the whole world. Some time ago M. Tronget captured a wild boar and the aid of his keeper in the France's forest. This animal he has trained.

At first it was a most difficult matter for M. Tronget to get his boar to run in harness, but by dint of much perseverance and more whipping it was at last brought to docility and obedience. Then a specially designed gig was built for it, and the animal was made to draw his master about just like a horse. The boar is now two years old, and this strange equipage can be seen almost every day at Montlucon, where the peasants have become so used to the sight that they no longer notice that it is strange.

The animal cuts roots and leaves, which are gathered fresh every day for it in the woods where it was caught.

Dog Gave Life to Save Girl.

Carrie, her faithful spaniel, is dead, but Emilio Schlichting, the five-year-old mistress of the curly-haired pet, is safe, so at 38 Cranberry street, Brooklyn, there is rejoicing and sorrow at the same time, says the New York world. For Carrie, who knew more than some humans, saved the life of the child the other afternoon, and gave her own in the saving.

Emilio is the daughter of William G. Schlichting, a wholesale grocer. Every day she and the dog went out for a stroll together, with Carrie on a leash, so Emilio would not get lost. The other day they took their walk as usual, and were crossing Hilda street at Midland, when a truckman suddenly swung his horses toward them.

To those who looked on it seemed that the little girl could not escape and Carrie, too, seemed to realize the danger. She sprang to one side, and with a wig at the leash threw her little mistress off her balance. Emilio fell sprawling on the pavement out of the way of the horses' hoofs. But the moment it had taken the dog to save its mistress cost the animal its life. A hoof felled the dog and a wheel crushed it.

Rusklin's Ditter Criticism.

"We are always in these days endeavoring to separate intellect and manual labor; we want one man to be always thinking, and another to be always working, and we call one a gentleman and the other an operative; whereas the workman ought often to be thinking and the thinker often to be working, and both should be gentlemen in the best sense. As it is, we make both ungentle, the one envying, the other despising his brother; and the mass of society is made up of morbid thinkers and miserable workers!"—John Ruskin.

Quite So.

"These fellows that 'speak to' catch the farmer vote pitchin' hay how get the wrong idea." "How's that, Jabez?" "A real farmer spends his time pitchin' horseshoes."

MAN WAS A MISFIT

NOT BUILT FOR THE ORDINARY PARK BENCH.

Girl Tells of More or Less Amazing Adventure in Which She was a Somewhat Unwilling Participant.

"They never think of trying to make these park benches to fit people," said the girl who sometimes sits awhile in the park. "That is, people of extraordinary size. The other day at about six o'clock I was sitting near the fountain at Union square when a man who must have weighed about 300 pounds and was about seven feet tall came and sat down at the other end of the bench I was on. He fitted mightily snugly in the chair—you know how these benches are divided into about six chairs—so snugly that I kept looking at him, wondering to myself how he ever was going to get up."

"I looked at him till he thought I was flirting with him—imagined flirting with a man so large he could pitch you into the fountain if he happened to take a dislike to you—and tried to flirt back."

"Discovering there was nothing flirtatious about me, he began to try to get up. I was waiting for it. I knew what was coming. The bench stuck to him and he to it, and over I went."

"I picked myself up and sat down again, and he tried to look as if nothing had happened. Then very quietly, his eye on me, looking out of the corner, he made a second move to get up with the same result. Over I went."

"When this happened a third time I began to get a trifle tired of it, so I got up and walked around the fountain to where a tall cop was standing. 'If you don't get a shoe horn,' I told him, 'and pry that man out of the chair he'll stay there all night.'"

The Bench Stuck to Him, and He to It, and Over I Went.

with the same result. Over I went. "When this happened a third time I began to get a trifle tired of it, so I got up and walked around the fountain to where a tall cop was standing. 'If you don't get a shoe horn,' I told him, 'and pry that man out of the chair he'll stay there all night.'"

GOLFERS' CURIOUS DRIVE.

Playing from a Tree-Top—Ball That Bounded Back to Starting Point.

An odd incident occurred during a match at the Golf Club de Paris, near Versailles, France. Two players in the open amateur championship were at the fourteenth tee, when one sent his drive up a tree. The ball remained fixed between two branches; a caddy, climbing up, discovered its presence there.

A great consultation arose as to what should be done. The committee was hastily summoned and stood beneath the spreading branches of the tree, much in the fashion in which St. Louis dispensed justice in a primitive France. Evidently the ball was not out of bounds. Finally the judges decreed that either a new ball should be dropped on the tee, counting two, or the ball should be played from the spot. To save the point, the golfer bravely climbed up the tree and played his ball from the embarrassing fork, making, indeed quite a stroke.

Later in the afternoon from the same tee I witnessed a curious incident. The player had driven, and his ball, striking the sand box of the ladies' tee, 50 yards ahead, bounded back to its starting place. The player then drove into the bunker with his second shot, which is also something of a performance.

Potatoes Made Into Pencils.

Potatoes are now being used in Germany in place of cedar wood for the manufacture of lead pencils. The product is a trifle heavier than cedar, but the pencils are the same size as those now in use, and the cost is much less. According to recent statistics, the export from Germany to foreign countries equaled 15,106 tons, with a total number of pencils at 3,033,200,000. The cedar wood used at present in the manufacture of lead pencils is expensive and the quantity limited, while on the other hand, the cultivation of potatoes is advancing each year. For these reasons this invention will mark the beginning of a new era in the production of lead pencils.

Dog That Catches Fish.

Nick Craighead, a Callaway county farmer, has a little shepherd dog that has made quite a reputation for itself by catching fish in several small streams near his place. The dog is enabled to see the fish because of the clear water that flows in the streams. He waits on the bank until a fish draws near the surface and then with a leap and dive into the stream grabs the fishy quarry before it has time to swim away.

The dog has made such a name for himself that many persons drive to the Craighead farm just to see the animal in his piscatorial act.—Kansas City Times.

CALLS THE NEGROES GUILTY

GEN. MYER'S REPORT TOUCHES ON BROWNSVILLE AFFAIR.

Garrison Removed From Fort Brown as Result—Commander Urges Better Pay and Canteen.

Washington, Aug. 23.—An echo of the "shooting up" of Brownsville, Tex., last August by the negro troops of the Twenty-fifth Infantry is found in the annual report of Brig. Gen. Albert L. Myer, commanding the department of Texas, for the fiscal year 1907. He refers to it as "a lamentable occurrence which is still shrouded in mystery to a great extent." He adds: "However, it seems to have been established that on the night in question a few enlisted men of the first battalion, Twenty-fifth Infantry, then garrisoning Fort Brown, did go armed into Brownsville and do some promiscuous firing resulting in the death of one civilian, one horse and the wounding of one policeman. It has been impossible to identify the individuals who actually did the firing. Undoubtedly there was at the time mutually bad blood between a part of the garrison of Fort Brown and some of the citizens of Brownsville and this fact must, to some extent, account for the occurrence."

As a result of the occurrence, Fort Brown has been deprived of a garrison and the reservation has been temporarily transferred to the department of agriculture.

In line with other department commanders, Gen. Myer takes the ground that the pay of enlisted men should be increased, particularly of non-commissioned officers. He favors legislation increasing the infantry by at least ten regiments of full peace strength, and he declares that the continuing absence of so many officers renders more apparent and evident the necessity for some legislation giving two officers at least to a company or troop at all times.

Gen. Myer renews the recommendation of most of his predecessors relative to the removal of the canteen restrictions on the sale of malt liquors. He says there has been about 8 per cent. decrease in the number of trials by court martial, and the number of trials for desertion far exceeds that of any other crime or charge.

Texas Sues the Harvester Trust.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 23.—One of the most important anti-trust suits started in Texas was filed at Austin late Thursday afternoon by the attorney general's department in behalf of the state against the International Harvester Company of America, which was organized under the laws of Wisconsin. The petition alleges that the defendant concern has violated the anti-trust law of Texas and demands penalties in the sum of $1,100,000.

Ousted Board Won't Fight.

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—The old board of police commissioners, which was removed from office by Mayor Taylor, held a meeting Thursday and practically decided at once to relinquish office to the board appointed by the city's chief executive. Chief of Police Dinan, after consultation with the former commissioners, prepared to hand his resignation to the new commissioners at their meeting Thursday afternoon.

New York Meat Drivers Strike.

New York, Aug. 23.—Drivers and stevedores employed at the wholesale beef packing houses went on strike Thursday night. They demand a uniform working week of 60 hours and an increase in wages. Both the independent companies and the so-called "trust" are affected. The companies have notified the retailers to send their own teams to the distributing depots for supplies.

Wisconsin Tobacco Market

Edgerton, Wis., Aug. 23, 1907.

The drought has been broken by unprecedented rainfalls and heavy showers doing more or less damage to crops and buildings during the week. In the wake of these storms came some cold nights that caused more uneasiness to the tobacco growers. The harvest of the early fields will commence the coming week, fully a month later than a year ago. Warm weather and plenty of it is needed to perfect the crop. There is a chance yet for the medium set fields to make good leaf if we are favored with a month of growing weather. The outlook at best is not very encouraging, though the crop is making marked improvement since the rains, and with favorable weather the growers hope to secure a reasonable harvest.

The market for old stock brings no new developments. Samples of last seasons packings are not yet ready for inspection and transactions are confined to older leaf for manufacturers' needs. In view of the prospects for the new crop packers see no reason for reducing prices on their holdings.

The shipments out of storage reach 600 cases from this market to all points for the week.—Edgerton Reporter.

Peril in the Handshake.

The hygienist has kindly discovered there are millions of microbes in a handshake. What patience and eccentrics he must possess! But let us be brave and go on exchanging them. If it pleases science to count microbes the lay world can do not less than give science permission to proceed with the stunt. However, remember there are good microbes as well as bad ones.

Every Good Thing Is Imitated

—and Lightning Rods are no exception.

Here's the point:

The Dodd & Struthers Lightning Rod is the ORIGINAL copper cable rod.

It was the first lightning rod made on scientific principles.

It has been endorsed by the fire insurance companies.

Over two hundred thousand buildings are protected today by the Dodd & Struthers rod.

It is made of pure copper wires, woven or braided into a cable.

There are others made similar to it, BUT—

Before you have your buildings rodged make sure you are getting a PURE copper cable rod.

There are other rods on the market which contain nearly 50 per cent alloy.

That means that the Dodd & Struthers rod is nearly a 50 per cent better conductor of electricity.

Think this over—and if you're thinking of rodging your buildings talk it over with me.

John Henry On Golf

By HUGH McHUGH
(George V. Hobart)

Hereafter golf is the game for Gills!
No for the niblick and the brassie—Gill!
Billy Baldwin, Harry Ford and Eddie Bartlett took me out last summer and put me wise to the whole lay-out.
In less than an hour I could play the game better than Doolan, and he's the man that made it.
Golf has all the other games slapped to a sidown.
I know it because I played it once and Billy told me that as soon as a few Scotch thistles sprouted on my shins I'd be the real rinkaboo!
Harry told me I could drive good enough to own a hack, and Eddie

He Was Finnegan The Fine Boy, For Sure.

thought I was the likeliest side-stepper that ever did a grass-chopping specialty.

The only drawback they found was that I didn't hit the ball.

It's impossible for the chest measurement to have the bunch hand you out the same spiel—believe me!

I took my lady friend out Westchester way last week and on the road I was heckled Robert with the big talk.

It's a habit with me to go up and butt the coming every time my lady friend is near enough to listen.

Most of us young guys are gushers with the loud language when the heat and only is in the building.

How we do like to gather the gab and hand out hints to the horstne that she's gazing on the greatest ever!

When Clara Jane asked me if I knew the game I told her that I used to room with the man that built the first links.

When she asked me his name I told her it was McDougall, because that's the name of a head-waiter who helps to spend my money.

She asked me if I knew what a totter is and I said, "Sure, I eat them for breakfast every morning!"

When we reached Westchester we met a Society duck named Lionel von Hamburg.

I think his father invented the Ham-burger steak.

Lionel was all to the best.

He was Finnegan the Fine Boy, for sure.

One of those tart little red coats squeezed his shape, and around his neck he had a pink stock that was waiting for a chance to choke him.

My lady friend met this gilly once at a bean soltee and she was his evening star.

They sat on the stairs together and put a kink in the caramels.

When the gong sounded for the ice cream that night Lionel had dipped her out a tubful, and he was sure she liked him for his boyish ways.

So on this occasion it was Lionel's play to give me the low tuckie and claim the calico.

But I'm something of a Mr. Fox myself on rare occasions, and I couldn't seen Lionel doing a two-step through the farm lands with my flannel—no through the opera glasses.

He Reached Over and Patted Clara Jane on the Hand.

Clara Jane introduced me to his Pinkness and he invited us in the clubhouse to throttle our thirsts.

I ordered a rickety, Clara Jane called for a lemonade, and Lionel's guess was a pair of Vichy and milk.

When the soda rolled up I gave the Vichy stuff the sad eye and Lionel caught the gaze.

I could see that he wanted to back pedal right, then, but he waited until the next round and then he waded out among the high boys.

It was the bluff of his life.

His limit on bug bitters was imported ginger ale with a piece of lime in it.

When he was out roystering and didn't care what became of him he would tell the bartender to add a dash of phosphates.

THAT INTERURBAN

On Tuesday, September 2, Mr. Montgomery of the Madison city traction line will present his petition to the Railroad commission asking that he be granted permission to build an electric road from Madison to Stoughton. This is a matter of much importance to Janesville and should be closely watched. If such a road is built from Madison to Stoughton the meat of the whole interurban problem between Janesville and Madison is gone. Steps should be taken to prevent Mr. Montgomery's receiving the desired permission unless he agrees to build clear through to Janesville. If Janesville is neglected now it will mean that it will be years before the road is extended from Stoughton to this city.

PENNSYLVANIA'S SCANDAL

The glorious state of Pennsylvania thought it had a political scandal when Cashier Hopkins of the People's Bank, Philadelphia, killed himself and implicated a dozen prominent politicians with looting the bank he was cashier of. The present Capital building scandal, however, puts that event in the shade and when the examination really ends there will be some interesting news from the state political board of managers.

WORK ON CAPITOL

Work on the new state capital building is progressing slowly. Thus far the foundation of the new wing has been laid and some of the upper structure has been put in place, but it will be eighteen months at least before this part is finished if it is done then. However, Rome was not built in a day and if the building when finished is an honor to the state it will be worth waiting for.

STATE POLITICS

Already the politicians have begun counting up the places to be vacant next year and are laying plans for filling them. The only trouble is that there are easily a half dozen for each place. Some one is bound to get left. The question now is, who?

The slowest question has been settled, but it will come up again in many different forms. Why try to make the walks of the city uniform anyway? In the early days fifty years ago, the people used cow tracks; why not revert to the old method again?

It is to be hoped that the man who assaulted the policeman trying to enforce the law will be punished severely if found guilty. There is no occasion for clemency in this case if the facts stand as proven.

Two Philadelphia girls showed bravery when they caught a burglar at his work and then knocked him senseless with a potato masher. Evidently these girls were strangers to the traditions of the Quaker City.

The police at Manila refuse to allow the rebels to use their emblems or flags in any public place. Another species of the blackhand society exists over there that is being slowly but surely suppressed.

These snake stories and lost boat stories that appear regularly from Marquette are good reading, but so good and fishy that they can not be swallowed.

The great Robert Pinkerton is dead. The man who has helped locate and convict thousands of evil-doers has gone to his final judgment himself, but has left behind him a record that many men would be proud to call their own.

A Chicago woman called on her prisoner husband and gave him a drink of whiskey through the bars of the cell, using a rubber tube to aid in passing the contraband through to him.

One of Henri's piques comes out with a tale that Secretary Root is in a sanitarium. That is where Henri wishes he was but the question is as to the truth of the story.

Secretary Taft has made another hit. In the border lands of the south he has made a thrilling defense of the negro race and was roundly applauded by his vast audience. How is that for a checkmate, Mr. Foraker?

Now that the officials of the telegraphers' union would have the public believe that the officials of the telegraph company really incited the strike now in progress.

So Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish has again broken into the social ring of Newport and paid off her husband's enemies in a telling society stroke.

The latest drink is the Molluscoido Cup. Like the Fubank cocktail it is harmless. Just some ginger ale, a little pure water, with a few slices of lemon, orange and pineapple in it.

The Milwaukee man who used an electric battery to make his horse go certainly was an inventive genius even if the court did not appreciate his endeavors.

English troops are reported to have crossed the Venezuelan frontier. Pershing that is the reason Grover Cleveland decided he was well enough to go fishing.

Anyone who sees the succulent corn on the dinner table does not believe the report that the corn crop is a failure.

Chicago has started to clear the city of crooks. Well, why not start higher up than the barrel houses, Mister Mayor?

Texas comes to the front and wants to line the International Harvester Company $1,000,000, just to be doing something.

Senator Allison of Iowa is going to appear in the arena as candidate to succeed himself.

Chicago has another divorce problem in which poker playing is an important item.

Coxey is going to invade Washington again, but this time with Pullman palace cars.

Janesville Golfers are in Madison to try conclusions with the Maple Bluff golfers.

It now appears that Chicago invented the blue dress suit and not New York.

General Prude thinks he can do something if he is given troops enough.

The Rhodians are electing another Douma. My goodness, what a farce.

CHIMPANZEE HAD MUCH FUN.

Escaped from French Circus for Brief Spell of Liberty.

A large chimpanzee performing at a fair in Montmartre, France, escaped recently, and created a panic in the district. The animal given his performance under the direction of La Goulue, the Moulin Rouge dancer who took to lion taming and went through her marriage ceremony in a lion's den. Zizi, as he is called, escaped while his keeper's attention was momentarily attracted elsewhere, and made straight for the Metropolitan railway station at the Boulevard Dardes. Entering the booking office he nearly frightened the woman booking clerk out of her wits. He seized bundles of tickets, and amused himself by flinging them into the air and watching their descent in a shower. When he had thus made an end of several hundreds of packages he ran into the station, creating a panic among the waiting passengers. They fled across the line and down the stairs into the street, and two policemen and six porters were summoned to try and capture Zizi. As soon as Zizi saw them coming he bolted down the line, and was so anxious to escape his pursuers that he did not notice an approaching train. The driver pulled up in time to avoid killing the animal, and Zizi capered off on another line, and stopped a second train in the same way. After much chasing and dodging Zizi was eventually caught in a sack, put into a strait waistcoat, and taken to the police station, where La Goulue appeared and hailed him out early the next morning.

Why He Did Not Laugh.
Humorist's Sense of Modesty Kept Him Silent.

A certain well-known humorist recently attended a banquet at which he was seated beside a man who seemed to have hosted a man for story-telling. He began with the oysters and had at least one story for each course clear down to the Requiem. The humorist listened in patience, but did not smile or make any comment. Finally the story-teller noticed the fact that he was not eliciting any expressions of mirth, and, being one who was not at all afflicted with diffidence, he asked: "Say, old man, what's the matter with my stories, anyhow? You haven't cracked a smile over any of them." "If I haven't seemed to appreciate your stories you will have to blame my modesty." "Your modesty? There's nothing about any of the stories I've told that ought to interfere with anybody's modesty. At least I supposed they were clean. If there's a double meaning in any of them, for heaven's sake tell me. I told nearly everyone of them to a lot of women the other night." "There's nothing at all the matter with them. They're good, clean stories. Nevertheless, my modesty forbids me to laugh at them. I wrote them."

Good Manners.
Good manners are to particular societies what good morals are to society in general—their cement and security.—Lord Chesterfield (1694-1773).

NEARLY WORKED A SMOOTH GAME

W. LEVICK OF CHICAGO HAD H.
N. ADAIR'S $100.

AND WAS OFF FOR BELOIT

But He Made a Mistake in Trying to Give City Marshal Appleby the $100 at Jackson Street.

When a slightly built gentleman with a drooping, crescent-shaped, straw-colored mustache, spectacles, Myrtle Shrike button, and suit of gray dropped off the 12:15 southbound interurban car at the Jackson street crossing this noon, City Marshal Appleby suddenly decided to likewise disembark. A moment later he had nestled the stranger and had hidden him to the police station for a little conference.

W. Levick of Chicago was the name which this individual registered at the Hotel Myers last night. He had five typewriters in cases about the size of date-boxes and entered into negotiations with H. N. Adair, a machinist, to take the agency for these machines which were calculated to sell like hot cakes at $20 per. In order to protect "the firm" he requested that Mr. Adair deposit with him $100, on condition that twenty-five more typewriters should be sent to him on Tuesday next. The Janesville man was to have the agency for the entire territory and all other sub-agents were to deal with "the firm" through him. The project looked good to Mr. Adair until after he had deposited the money and examined the machines. Then he turned upon him that "the firm" was hiding his identity under a bushel and that there was good cause to suspect the machines were far from being as represented. All at once he became convinced that he had paid $100 for five practically worthless toys that would probably keep him company the rest of his days.

About the time Marshal Appleby got busy, Mr. Levick was hastily preparing to leave town. "I am going down to Beloit for dinner and will be back tonight—shall I check out or pay?" he asked of Manager Spirens. "Well, I guess you had better pay," said the latter, though this answer is very infrequently given in a case of this kind. Mr. Levick was probably disappointed but he paid and took his leave. A few moments later the City Marshal was in the scene. Struggling between the turn he had made in that direction and was just in time to catch the car. He looked over the passengers and sized up his man, though he was not quite sure until Mr. Levick, also sizing him up—it seems—had decided to give him the slip.

At the police station the typewriter man paid back the $100 and received in return the small boxes of "O'Boyle" or whatever the ready writers were called. Mr. Adair did not care to prosecute and W. Levick of Chicago, after making everyone an affectionate adieu, departed for the depot. Just outside the station he hired a boy to "pack" the boxes on the street.

LAST SAD RITES IN MEMORY OF DECEASED

Large Funeral Held This Morning
Over Remains of Daniel
S. Sheridan.

Signifying the respect and esteem they held for the deceased, scores of relatives and friends including representatives from two societies of which the deceased was a member and the several departments of the municipal government, attended the funeral of Assistant Street Commissioner Daniel S. Sheridan held at 9:30 this morning from the St. Mary's church. The Rev. W. A. Giesbregt pronounced high mass at the church where the funeral cortege formed to proceed to Mt. Olivet cemetery for the interment. It was doubtless one of the largest funerals ever held in this city, there being 15 closed carriages and 85 open ones in the funeral procession besides the delegations from the two societies in line. The police patrol, carrying City Marshal Appleby and several policemen, led the procession followed by Mayor Heddes, the common council and other city officials, Fire Chief Kline and representatives of the fire department, a large delegation of the Catholic Order of Foresters, the Fraternal Order of Eagles in a body, the pallbearers, and the hearse and escort from both the Eagles and Foresters. The escort, marching at the side of the hearse was composed of a representation of the Eagles, Timothy McKeown, Thos. Abbott, and James Byrne, and of the Foresters, Thos. Stiegel, John Doran, and Joe Gokey. The pallbearers were the five brothers of the deceased and George Dougherty.

TANK IN GASOLINE LAUNCH EXPLODED

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Harrington and Mrs. George Powers Had Exciting Experience on River.

In a gasoline launch explosion on Rock river last night the lives of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Harrington and Mrs. George Powers were just saved by the lucky fact that the accident occurred within a few yards of shore. The party had been up the river in the launch and as they turned toward the boat-house near the Crank brewery, the gasoline tank blew up. All escaped being scalded and Mr. Harrington, jumping into the water, pulled the craft to shore. There all four occupants got out onto the shulding water and began dousing the burning launch with water. Dean Peterson happened upon the scene and with his assistance the launch was finally sunk and saved from complete destruction. Today Mr. Harrington and workmen raised the hull and are engaged in repairing the damage. The cause of the explosion is a mystery but it is thought that gasoline might have leaked into the ledge water and there been ignited by the engine spark.

BEST PLAYERS TODAY

Fielder Jones Says Old Time Stars Are Outclassed.

GREAT ADVANCE IN PITCHING.

Captain Manager of the World's Champions Can't See How Former Players Compare With Moderns. The Split Ball a Big Factor Nowadays.

Fielder A. Jones, captain and manager of the Chicago White Sox, world's baseball champions, takes exception to statements that the players of today are not in a class with those of twenty or thirty years ago.

"It is ridiculous to say that the players of today are not far in advance of those of twenty-five years ago," said the great center fielder. "The game has improved in every department. The trouble with any man who contends that the players of old outclassed those of today is this: In the old days there were about fifteen or twenty good players and there few showed the others up. Nowadays every man must be a star or he does not play. That is why there are no bright particular stars that shine out by themselves. Every man is a star and he is playing such magnificent ball that a great play is forgotten from day to day by the ever happening features in almost every game.

"As to the pitchers of today not comparing with those of old, it is to laugh. In the olden times there were just one or two who stood out alone. Today I can name fifty pitchers who stand out in the limelight. Also who ever heard of the split ball twenty-five years ago? In my mind it is the greatest ball ever served to a batter. Look at the men who are the stars in this particular line today and you will see the best pitchers in the business. Of course there are others who are great pitchers, but in years to come I believe the split ball will be the only ball.

"Go back twenty years and show me a list of pitchers who classed with Matthewson, Walsh, Brown, Howell, Ewing, Waddell, Orth, Joss, Plank, Cy Young, Mullin, Altrock, White, Overhill, Stricklett, Pety, Chesbro, Dygert, Bender, Tammehill and a score of others. It cannot be done. Also, let the teams of today attempt to pull off some of those old tricks and see how far they could get with them.

"The team work of today far exceeds that of twenty years ago. Some of the players nowadays have forgotten more than those old players knew. It is self-evident ball today.

"Team work counts, and when they work together and when the pitchers are good it gives the public the greatest sport known to mankind. Men today also take care of themselves better than they did twenty years ago. They are trained now like race horses and are fit to go any distance.

"Also, the rules have made the game stronger and more efficient, and if the old teams of twenty-five or thirty years ago would play ball today as they did then they wouldn't win one game in twenty, in my opinion.

"I am not trying to take any of the glory away from those old players who were stars in their days. True, they were great ball players, but not finished like the men are of today. Thirty years hence the game may be so far advanced that the players of today might look just as much of a back number as the old players do to the new players of today.

"Then, again, men who handle teams have made a study of players and they know what kind of a ball is hardest for them to hit. The pitchers and the catchers learn each batter. The outfielders know every man and they play in certain positions for each man and they don't make many mistakes.

"Watch me in center field sometimes and see how far I play over in right field for some men and then shift a hundred yards across the field for others. Also see how often I am under a ball when it is hit out in that territory. That is one of the secrets of the game."

Ganzel May Succeed Hanlon.
John Ganzel will most likely succeed Ed Hanlon as the 1908 manager for the Claretmouth Reds.

Spilled the Scene.

One night at a country theater Mrs. Siddons was "taking the poison" in the last act of some gloomy tragedy, when a boor in the gallery called out: "That's right, Molly, scoop it up, ma lass."

LIGHTNING STRUCK
AND BURNED BARN

Archibald Reid's Brother Loser by Monday's Storm—Sixty Tons of New Hay Destroyed.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Clinton, Wis., Aug. 20.—This community was visited by a severe electrical storm Monday afternoon. Lightning struck the large barn on the Wm. Reid farm at Avalon and set it on fire and completely destroyed it with almost its entire contents. Among other things were sixty tons of new hay.

It's only one of many, many similar items that have appeared in the newspapers all through the summer—and will continue to appear until winter comes.

BUT, you never read—and you never will—of lightning striking a building equipped with the Janesville Pure Copper Cable Lightning Rod.

It can't.

If you've read our ads, you know WHY it can't—and you know that our statements are borne out by ACTUAL EXPERIENCE—not merely in a few hundred, or even a few thousand, but in tens of thousands of cases.

..Forty Years Ago..

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, Aug. 23, 1867.—Hon. R. P. Hopkins has our thanks for various public documents.

Counterfeit Five Cent Nickel Pieces.—There is great profusion of five cent nickel pieces in this locality, and we presume other places have them in plenty. They are easily distinguished from the original by the arrangement of the stars around the figure "55"—the genuine having little bars between the stars.

A Lumber Slide.—Yesterday afternoon a building belonging to Nettleton, Jacobs & company, built upon timbers over the river and used by these gentlemen for storing lumber, gave way with a crash and went into the water with all its contents. A man who had crawled in there to sleep off the fumes of whisky went down with the wreck, but was taken out uninjured. The loss is quite considerable.

We Like Their Pluck.—The All Souls church society are now engaged in getting the basement of their church ready to finish off into some handsome rooms to be used for their sewing circle, church meetings and socials and other kindred purposes, and in order to make the draft on the treasury as light as possible, some of the many members of the society who just now are little crowded with work have manned the wheelbarrows and are taking the dirt out. Their pluck is good, and their action furnishes another illustration of the adage that "where there is a will there is a way."

THIS DAY IN HISTORY—PUZZLE PICTURES.

August 23, 1628—Two hundred and seventy-nine years ago today the Duke of Buckingham of England was assassinated. Find the assassin.

BRUTAL MURDER IN ITALY.

Discovery Leads Police to a Spurious Bank Note Plant.

Palermo, Aug. 23.—The finding Thursday of two half-burned chests, containing portions of a human body, in the forest of Bello Tampo, not only brought to light a brutal murder, but also led to the discovery of an extensive plant for the manufacture of spurious bank notes. Italy has recently been flooded with this counterfeit money. The victim of the murder has been identified as Henry Francois, a deserter from the French army. He had been decapitated and then dismembered. A local engraver, his wife and two merchants have been arrested, both as the assassins and as counterfeiters. The motive of the crime is alleged to have been the fear of betrayal by Francois, who was a member of the gang.

Street Car and Freight Train Collide. Alliance, O., Aug. 23.—A street car was in collision here Thursday with an engine and three freight cars at the Morgan crossing of the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling railroad. The motorman was probably fatally hurt and the conductor and four passengers, including three women, were injured.

Hoch Nudge Railway Commission. Topeka, Kan., Aug. 23.—In a letter sent to the board of railway commissioners Thursday afternoon Gov. Hoch intimates that unless the board puts a two-cent fare in effect, in a very short time he will call a special session of the legislature.

Gored to Death By a Bull. Antigo, Wis., Aug. 23.—Carl Dunning, aged 25 years, was gored by an angry bull at his home near Summit Lake village, north of here, and died shortly afterward.

"Generally debilitated for years, had sick headaches, heeled amputation, was worn out and all run-down. Burdock Blood Bitters made me a well woman."—Mrs. Clara Freiloy, Mesquite, Conn.

Sweet Cucumber Pickle. The following will be found an excellent recipe for sweet pickles made with ripe cucumbers: Pare and quarter the cucumbers, removing all the seeds; cover with salt and water and let them stand over night; then drain and boil in good elder vinegar; when tender remove the vinegar and place in jars. Make a syrup of one quart of vinegar, one heaping coffee cup of sugar and one tablespoonful of cinnamon, half a teaspoonful of cloves, half a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper. Boil 20 minutes and turn while hot over the pickles.

A Great Roast!

Over a ton of Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee is roasted at a time, in a large revolving cylinder, which drops the coffee through heat again and again until each bean is uniformly roasted.

No other coffee is in sufficient demand to afford such scientific and perfect preparation.

The sales of Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee exceed the sales of all other packaged coffees combined, and this scientific roasting, which no other coffee can afford, by its very magnitude, reduces our cost to a minimum, and enables us, with our other advantages, to give better value in Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee than is possible for any one else.

Arbuckles' Ariosa Coffee is the cheapest good coffee in the world, and the best of all for you.

New Name for Laziness.

Perhaps some day a restrictive tariff will be imposed on imported words. From Russia, which gave us "pogrom," now comes obolomofom, to describe physical, mental and intellectual sloth carried to an extreme.

The sufferer is called on to move to a new house "fueled as if the burden of the world were on his shoulders; but the crops fall he laments, but can not take the trouble to go and look after his farm; if he must write a letter the nearest trifle, even a common misplaced, is enough to make him give up the task. He passes his life in the house dozing on his bed or in an armchair bemoaning.

This is apparently uncharitable or the ravages of the lazy worm in Russia.

William Dean Howells

William Dean Howells, noted author and the editor at various times of important magazines, was born at Mar-tine's Ferry, O., on March 1st, 1837.
Mr. Howells received the bulk of his education by private studying while working in numerous newspaper offices. He was honored with a degree by Harvard university in 1877. Before this, however, Mr. Howells had already made a successful start in literature. He worked up from a compositor to an editorship in a newspaper office and after he was successful he was given the United States consulship at Venice from 1881 until 1885. While traveling abroad he met Miss Ellen G. Mead and married her at Paris in 1882. His most popular novel, perhaps, is "The Rise of Silas Lapham." He makes his home now in New York city.

Schoolboy's Pathetic Suicide.

A terrible tragedy occurred in a state school at Danbury recently. As the custom at the end of the term, the head master, before distributing the prizes, was reading out to the assembled boys and their parents the names of those who had been raised to a higher class, and those who had failed. When the reports on a 15-year-old boy, who had not been successful, were read out, the lad suddenly, in front of the whole school, whipped out a revolver and before anyone had time to stop him fired a bullet through his right temple and fell dead.

GOES TO PRISON
FOR FIVE YEARSSPANIARD TOMAS CATARAN GETS HEAVY SENTENCE FOR BURGLARY.

THRICE ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

After Acting the Part of a Craven in the Court Room—Jury Out Five Hours—Taken to Waupun at Noon Today.

When the jury, after deliberations extending over a period of five and a half hours, brought in a verdict of "guilty" at 9:30 last evening and Judge Pileggi's sentence of five years at hard labor in the state's prison was conveyed to Tomas Cataran, or Casoriva, by Heliodora Figueroa, the interpreter, and the hand-cuffs were

TOMAS CATARAN, OR CASORIVA

readjusted, the Spaniard gave a despairing cry and threw himself upon the municipal court-room floor where he kicked and moaned, refusing to budge an inch towards the waiting patrol wagon. Under-Sheriff George Appley, City Marshal William H. Ap-pley and others finally picked up the pitiful specimen of frenzied humanity and carried it out of the court chamber and down to the basement of the city hall.

Once below, the officers forced the prisoner to get upon his feet. Ever since his capture and incarceration Cataran had pretended that he could not understand a word of the English language, but when the city marshal led him roughly by the back of his neck in the effort to make him walk, he screeched in perfectly intelligible Anglo-Saxon: "Let go of my arm, you
—!"

When, it appears, that the Spaniard was more conversant with what was going on about him yesterday than he was given credit for, despite the expression of dumb helplessness which was no doubt shrewdly calculated to appeal to the finer sympathies of the jurors.

The officers were not unimpressed by the prisoner's threat, made several days ago, to die rather than go to the state's prison, and after he had been placed in his cell at the county jail a watch was kept on his movements. Hardly an hour had elapsed when Under-Sheriff Appley, discovering him stretched out upon the cell floor with a handkerchief knotted tightly about his neck. From all appearances he was meeting with moderate success in his effort to choke himself to death. After this attempt had been thwarted and the unhappy creature had been placed on his bunk, the under-sheriff went downstairs and was engaged in a conversation with Deputy Sheriff Fred Gilman of Evansville when the sounds of another commotion came to their ears. Rushing up the flight of steps again they found the Spaniard on his bunk, throttling himself so effectively with both hands that the eyes bulged and the face was turning black.

The strangled-jacket was promptly pressed into service and Mr.
Cataran spent the balance of the night so securely strapped in that he could make no further efforts to do himself harm, save by holding his breath, and this childish expedient soon proved a dismal failure.

Under-Sheriff Appley and Deputy Gilman left for Waupun with the prisoner on the 12:40 train this noon.
At the depot Cataran made a desperate attempt to escape and was knocked down and held by the officers until the train came in. Although Cataran was convicted of burglary on the purely circumstantial evidence of his having been captured a few hours after the crime was committed with the stolen goods from Evansville and Postville homes in his possession, there is no reasonable doubt of his guilt and the community is well rid of a dangerous and desperate character.

At a recent congress of mothers

GREATEST HOG IN ALL WIDE WORLD

BERKSHIRE BRED BY H. C. TAY-LOR AT ORFORDVILLE.

HAS BEEN SOLD FOR $5,500

The Largest Price Ever Paid for Member of Swine Family—Sale
Consummated at Whitehall on Wednesday.

"Star Masterpiece," the prize Berkshire hog which was sold by W. S.
Corso of Whitehall, Ill., to S. H. & Laughlin of Kirksville, Mo., on Wednesday for $5,500—the largest price ever paid for a member of the swine family—was bred by H. C. Taylor of Orfordville. It was sired by Masterpiece 7700, and Ulala Star 5292 was the dam. When two years old it weighed 750 pounds and it tips the beam at 850 now. Mr. Taylor sold

"STAR MASTERPIECE," BERKSHIRE HOG BRED BY H. C. TAYLOR, WHICH SOLD FOR $5,500 THIS WEEK

the great hog to the University of Wisconsin; subsequently bought it back and kept it in his herd for a time; and then disposed of it to Mr.
Corso. It is regarded as the most perfect Berkshire ever produced in all the wide world. Prior to this sale the record-price for a prize hog was $5,100 paid for a Poland-China several years ago.

Developed in America

Mr. Taylor came to Janesville from the Whitehall side and is attending the hog sale at the Layday farm near Ruscon today. In the course of the transaction at Whitehall, 52 hogs brought an average of $128 each to their owners. There is always an excellent note in the Orfordville man's conversation when he gets to talking about high bred stock, and with good reason. For his Jersey cattle and his hogs have been pitted against the best animals of seven continents and have repeatedly carried off the championship, the grand championship, and the sweepstakes prizes. "It is true," he said last evening, "that we owe to England most of our high bred stock.
I suppose about the only domesticated animals and fowls that originated in this country are the Poland-China hog—a cross between a white and a black hog—and the Plymouth Rock chicken. We haven't had the patience and waiting power to originate much of anything here but America has developed the English breeds to a point of perfection never reached in their own country."

The Great Mississippi Valley

"And right here in the Mississippi valley and particularly in Wisconsin the most wonderful results have been attained. There was Brown Boscoe the Grand Champion Jersey, and "Mando S," one of the first of the great trotters to attract the attention of the world, had her drops of Wisconsin blood. Butter is worth 50 cents a pound in Japan. Both milk and butter were practically unknown commodities in that country until recently. Now representatives of their government are gathering together Jerseys and Holsteins and milking goats
to take back to their island kingdom, and they come straight not only to this country but to Wisconsin to get them. Dr. Semmen is at my farm now, and has herded 52 choice cattle from all parts of the state. Recently I secured for him a swarm of splendid bees. The Mississippi valley not only breeds great stock but it breeds great men. Where are the greatest universities? Right here in the west.
When I was down north recently and was shown in the company of railroad presidents and factory superintendents, I found that almost invariably they came from Wisconsin, Michigan, and Iowa. They are doing the thinking for and carrying on the business of the world—these men born and reared in the Mississippi valley."

features of the day. Both events were pulled on uneven ground and the west side each time won the coin flip

TITLE TO A DEAD
HORSE IS INVOLVED

In the Legal Action Commenced by Philip, Sheridan Against J. T.
Wright, Hide and Leather
Dealer.

Unless some settlement is reached in the meantime, the action of Philip Sheridan vs. J. T. Wright, a lawsuit involving the ownership of a nag four years dead, will be tried in Judge Reeder's court on Monday. Plaintiff claims that some time ago he purchased of H. Greeley Sloan a mare that had been on the Sloan farm for some years and left it there in good keeping. Subsequently, so it is alleged,
Mrs. Charles L. Sloan visited Mr.
Wright's hide and leather establishment at the corner of Milwaukee and Jackson streets and informed the proprietor that she had upon her farm a described old mare and that it would be an act of kindness to put the poor brute out of the way. Acting on the suggestion, Mr. Wright is alleged to have sent a man to the farm to kill the animal, take its hide, and bury the carcass. After the mission had been accomplished, Mr. Sheridan, chancing to learn of what had been done, appeared on the scene with a strong protest, claiming that Mrs.

Sloan had no right to give Mr. Wright permission to kill the animal as he had purchased it of Greeley Sloan.
The validity of the transaction rests upon the ownership of the horse and the court will have to decide.

COFFEE MATCHED AT LAST

A Test Package Mailed Free.
A new product—Dr. Shoop's Health
Coffee—is said to so closely match Old Java and Mocha Coffee in flavor, taste, and aroma, as to be scarcely discernible
from the very best brands of real Coffee.
"And yet," says Dr. Shoop, "Health Coffee has not even a grain of real Coffee in it."
I make my Coffee imitation from pure, healthful, toasted grains or cereals, with malt, nuts, etc. This is why I have named it Health Coffee.

Again, the tedious 20 or 30 minutes wait necessary in preparing other Coffee substitutes is mostly saved. My new Health Coffee imitation is made in exactly one minute—in 60 seconds.

If Coffee drinking makes you dull and listless, if it disturbs your stomach, your heart, or your kidneys, try my Health Coffee and see for yourself what it can and will do for you. Send 4 cents in stamps to cover postage, to Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., and secure a liberal test package entirely free. 1½ pound package Health
Coffee sells at 25 cents per package.

AN OLD IDEA.

Shown to be Absolutely False by Modern Science.

aple used to think that baldness was one of those things which are handed down from generation to generation, from father to son—just like a family heirloom.
Science has shown the fallaciousness
of this belief by proving that baldness
is not a constitutional disease, but the result of a germ invasion of which only Herpelde can effectually rid the scalp.

Washing only cleans the scalp of dandruff, it doesn't kill the germs.
"Destroy the cause you remove the effect."

Nowbro's Herpelde will do this in every case. It is also a delightful dressing.

S.S.S. A CERTAIN SAFE TREATMENT

Even if mercury and potash could cure Contagious Blood Poison the condition in which these strong minerals leave the system would make the "cure worse than the disease." But they cannot cure the vile disorder; they can only cover up the symptoms for awhile or mask the disease in the system. But as soon as the treatment is left off the hideous symptoms return. Mercury and potash eat out the delicate lining of the stomach and bowels, produce chronic dyspepsia by drying up the gastric juices, cause the teeth to decay, and often completely break down the constitution, and where they are used in large quantities, the bones become affected, while the disease for which one has so long taken this destructive treatment has not been cured. Contagious Blood Poison is a disease it will not do to trifle with. It is a vile, dangerous and destructive disorder. When the blood becomes infected with its virus the mouth and throat ulcerate, hair and eyebrows come out, glands in the neck and groin swell, copper-colored spots appear on the flesh, and in severe cases sores break out on the body, the finger nails drop off and the sufferer is diseased from head to foot. S. S. S. is the only known antidote for Contagious Blood Poison—the one remedy that is able to get to the root of the disease and force out every particle of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It is purely vegetable, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks of known curative value. Instead of leaving bad after-effects as some medicines do, S. S. S. tones up every part of the system and puts every part of the body in perfect health. It will also remove any lingering effects of former mineral treatment while eradicating the poison from the circulation. Special book on the home treatment of this disease and any medical advice desired furnished free to all who write.
